

Littlest Angels Shine at Metro Catholic School

Sr. MARY BETH GRAY

Mr. William Morgan of SignStage from the Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center tapped into their imaginations with signing, movement and dramatizations.

Our littlest angels, preschool and kindergarten, shone brightly on the stage in our Early Childhood Center Monday, November 24.

Anisia signing the Color Wheel Song

Preschool and kindergarten shared the songs and signs (language of the deaf) they learned while working with Ohio Arts Council artists-in-residence Ms. Vicki McCrone and Mr. William Morgan.

The children became more aware of deaf and hearing impaired people - people who can easily be marginalized because of hearing loss.

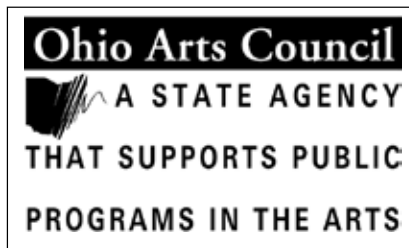

Ms. McCrone, a Cleveland musician and composer, captured their enthusiasm with her original composition Little Songs: Colors.

Each skit the children took part in emphasized an idea about getting a long, sharing and friendship.

What a pleasure it has been to see the smiles on the faces of our little ones as they sang, signed and dramatized creative ideas about colors, friendship and caring.

What color is the sky? Blue
